A Simple Way to Find Your Size

MEASURING YOUR BRACELET / BANGLE SIZE AT HOME: A SIMPLE WALKTHROUGH

You don't need fancy tools to figure out your size—just a few things lying around the house will do. Here are three reliable ways to check your size

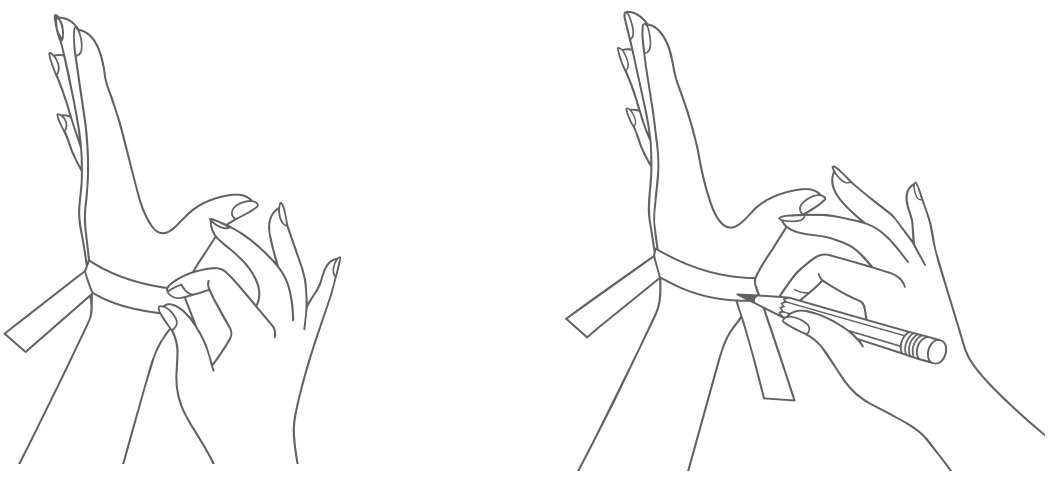

1. Use a Bracelet / Bangle That Already Fits

Place a well-fitting bracelet / bangle on a ruler and note the inner diameter. This is usually the most accurate method.

2. Use a Paper Strip or String

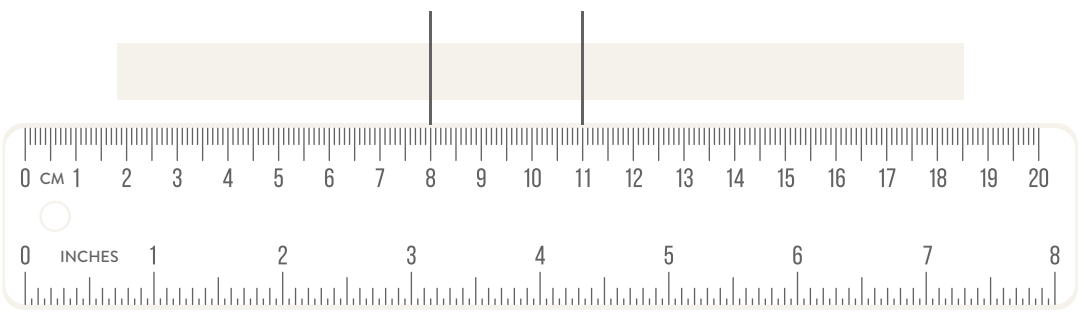

Wrap a strip of paper or string around your knuckles (not your wrist) at the widest part of your hand. Mark the point where it overlaps and measure the entire length in mm or cm. This gives you the circumference, which can be converted into diameter.

3. Use a Scale or Measuring Tape

A scale ruler or soft measuring tape wrapped around your hand's widest part can help you find the right fit quickly.

These methods ensure you find a size that slips on easily yet doesn't slide off too easily—especially if you're picking a design with no clasps or openings.
